

New Directions in Law and Society
Virtual Graduate Student and Junior Scholar Workshop
October 8-9, 2021

Hosted by the Center for Justice, Law, and Societies at the University of Massachusetts Amherst with the generous financial support of the National Science Foundation

Preliminary Program

Key Dates and Times (all times Eastern Standard Time)

October 8, 2021

10am-12pm: Paper Workshops

12:30pm-2pm: Publishing in Law and Society Panel with editors of the Journal of Law and Courts (Tom Clark, Emory University, tclark7@emory.edu), Law & Policy (Renee Cramer, Drake University, renee.cramer@drake.edu), Law & Social Inquiry (Christopher Schmidt, Chicago-Kent College of Law, cschmidt@kentlaw.iit.edu), and the Cambridge University Press Law and Society Series (Mark Massoud, University of California Santa Cruz, mmassoud@ucsc.edu)

October 9, 2021

10am-11:30am: Paper Workshops

12pm-1pm: Law and Society Funding Panel with Reggie Sheehan (National Science Foundation Law and Science Program, rsheehan@nsf.gov) and Brian Bornstein (Arizona State University and Law and Science Dissertation Grant Program, Brian.Bornstein@asu.edu)

1pm-2pm: New Directions in Law and Society Plenary Panel with Penelope Andrews (New York Law School, penelope.andrews@nyls.edu), Laura Beth Nielsen (Northwestern University, l-nielsen@northwestern.edu), and Austin Sarat (Amherst College, adsarat@amherst.edu)

Note

The conference will take place virtually on the Zoom platform. We will send an updated program with Zoom links for each of the panels and paper cohorts.

Goals for the Workshops

Our goal for the paper workshops is for each paper to get an equal amount of time over the two days, with opportunities for both the assigned discussant and the rest of the cohort to provide feedback. We find it is helpful in these workshops for the paper writer to briefly introduce what would be most helpful for the discussion, and then for the assigned discussant to spend approximately five minutes explaining what they see the paper's contributions to be.

We hope that each cohort will coordinate amongst themselves, prior to the program, about the days and times for each paper presentation. This is especially important if any participant is unavailable on one of the two conference days.

For the group panels, all participants (including discussants) are welcome to join. The goal is to have an interactive session in which participants are able to pose questions to the panelists.
